OUTLINES.

Lieutenant Governor Chanler and other candidates were nominated by acclamation at the State convention of the New York Democrats, at Rochester, N. Y., yesterday. The convention was harmonious in every particular——Emil Brunnier, editor of a German newspaper, was arrested yesterday in Mobile, Ala., on the charge of embezzlement——Great excitement prevails among the farmers in Jones county, Miss., due to the threats of "Night Riders" who have warned them not to sell any more cotton. Notices have been placed demanding them to cease hauling cotton until after September 14th——At a conference of Republican party leaders yesterday Judge Taft's speaking trips were definitely planned. He will make his first speech in Cincinnati the 23rd and will end at Galesburg, Ill., October 7th. It is probable that he will visit North Carolina on his second trip——At the annual meeting of the Inter-State Association of Live Stock Sanitary Boards, in Washington, recommendations were adopted yesterday approving the raise of the quarantine regulations, preventing the spread of Texas fever, among cattle in several Southern States, next year——Forest fires which broke out afresh yesterday near the mining locations on Lake Michigan threaten several small towns and many settlers are fleeing. Desperate efforts are being made to check the flames——The Rustin homicide is as much a mystery as when first committed——Wilbur Wright makes a successful flight with his aeroplane at his trial place in France——The Connecticut Democrats yesterday nominated a State ticket and a Congressman-at-large——Bryan sent Lieutenant Governor Chanler a telegram of congratulation on his nomination for Governor of New York——In the Standard Oil Company investigation several witnesses testify as to cuts in prices by independent companies to undersell the Standard Oil Company——At Mont Clair, N. J., John Leonard, a retired merchant is killed while examining a pistol his secretary had found in the street——Bryan made a speech at Rochester, N. Y., last night on "Taft and His Scares," answering the Republican candidate's arguments against the declarations of the Democratic platform——New York markets, Money on call 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 per cent, ruling rate 1 3-4, closing bid and offered at 1. Flour firm with a better demand. Wheat steady, No. 2 red 1.01 7-8 to 1.09 3-8 elecator. Corn easy, No. 2, 88 nominal elevator. Oats steady, mixed 52. Rosin steady. Turpentine quiet 39. Spot cotton closed quiet, 10 points advance, middling uplands 9.50, middling gulf 9.75.

Speaker Cannon now knows what kind of a thing a Bryan boomerang is.

Wonder if Hisgen and Graves expect to make anything by their tour of the South?

Mr. Bryan is sure of it, but he seems to be more excited and working harder than Taft to get it.

What are a politician's principles are of no consequence; it is what he can make voters think they are.

If the people really want Bryan elected they will be willing to pay the expenses of the campaign therefor.

It looks like Mr. Cannon's portrait will be the first to adorn the Ananias gallery which Bryan will establish in the White House next Spring.

With Cannon's defeat the Democrats would have a decent show in the House of Representatives even if the Republicans were in the majority.

It looks like the Democrats and Republicans of New Hanover and Columbus counties have made an even swap in members of the legal profession in the two counties.

With the negroes and the fair-minded white Republicans in Cannon's district against him he is not going to have such an easy time in securing a renomination.

It takes a big pile of money to pay the legitimate expenses of a Presidential campaign. The Bryan campaign is that of the people; therefore the people should expect to pay the expenses.

Speaker Cannon has not yet answered the question which is being put to him from all sections of the country: "Where did you get it?" Bryan's reply to the Speaker's attack has made that a popular cry.

In the Eighteenth Illinois Congressional District it is Bell against Cannon. The result of the election will show the people's preference for the sweet tones of the finer metal to the loud explosions of the coarser.

The result of the two State conventions in New York this week will have much to do with how the electoral vote of that State will be cast and, consequently, with the question as to who will be the next President.

THE U. C. D.'S TO ATLANTA

General Convention to be Held in Gate iCty Four Days Ensuing November 11th—Information For Delegates, Etc.

From Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, president general of the United Daughters of Confederacy in the United States, has been received the official announcement of the forthcoming annual convention of the General Association U. D. C., to be held in Atlanta, Ga., the four days ensuing November 11th.

The convention call for the State division which meets in Goldsboro on the 14th of October has previously been published. Mrs. Martin S. Willar, president of Cape Fear Chapter, U. D. C., of this city, is first vice president of the General Association and will, of course, be in attendance. In her announcement of the Atlanta Convention, Mrs. Stone says:

"The Atlanta Chapter, with its President, Mrs. Edward G. Warner, 217 Juniper street, Atlanta, are making every effort to secure a successful meeting.

"The Piedmont Hotel, Peachtree street, has been selected for headquarters. Rooms on the European plan can be secured, without bath, from $1.50 to $2.50; with bath $2.50 to $4.00. Other hotels on the European plan, are the Kimball and the Aragon, both on Peachtree street, with rates of $1.00 per day where two or more occupy a room, without bath; and with bath $2.00 to $3.50.

"The Marion, three blocks from the Convention Hall, and the Majestic, four blocks distant, both on the American plan, offer rooms for $2.00 to $2.50, without bath, and $3.00 per day with bath. "The Leland," a boarding house, four blocks from the convention hall, on Houston street, offers room and board, without bath for $1.50 per day.

"For further information in regard to accommodations, write to Mrs. S. H. Malone, chairman Information Committee, 144 East Pine street, Atlanta, Ga.

"The Convention will be held in the Cable Concert Hall, 82-84 North Broad street, Atlanta, three doors from the Piedmont Hotel.

"All officers and State Directors of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association must make a written report of all work done during the year, to the President General, ex officio chairman, at the meeting of the Association, which will be held during the convention at Atlanta.

"Chapters will bear in mind that the placing of portraits of our great chieftain, Jefferson Davis, and the peerless commander, Robert E. Lee, in the schools of the South, should be continued, as this is in line with our purpose to keep alive the most sacred memories of 'the days of the sixties,' and besides, such endeavor is inspiring and educational to the youth of our land. Do not forget our soldiers sleeping in the National Cemetery at Arlington, and to whom we are now striving to erect a monument, a loving tribute from the Daughters of the Confederacy. To this end let the annual meeting show a good report.

"Favorable railroad rates will be secured, and a large attendance is expected, at this annual reunion, where our pledges of loyalty may be stimulated and renewed, and where that fraternal spirit that makes us one in purpose and action, may find its holiest and truest realization."

JAMES MAKES STATEMENT

Told Chief Williams That Edwards Shot Him intentionally.

A statement by Corbett James, who was seriously shot by James Edwards, last week, to Chief of Police Williams at the James Walker Memorial Hospital yesterday, made an entirely different story from the one given by Edwards who claimed the shooting to have been accidental. There is little hope of the wounded man recovering and doubtless Edwards will be held for murder in the event that James should die.

James gave an account of the affair under oath, saying that Edwards shot him with a gun while he was walking with two women down the railroad track. Prior to firing he said that Edwards stated he was going to shoot him, and afterwards he laughed over the matter and said that he did not intend it. He also stated that they were not particular friends, but further said that there was no particular trouble between them and he could not account for Edwards' action.

THE NEWS FROM RALEIGH

Governor to Confer With Army Officer in Regard to Relief—Number of Corporations Chartered—Adjutant Fowle Resigns.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 16.—A commission was issued today from the office of Governor Glenn here to Major W. A. Graham, of Lincoln county, as Commissioner of Agriculture to succeed the late Samuel L. Patterson, who died Monday morning.

Major Graham is the Democratic nominee for Commissioner and has for a number of years been an active and especially efficient member of the State Board of Agriculture, of which, as Commissioner of Agriculture, he will now become chairman. It is not known when the new Commissioner can come to Raleigh to assume the duties of the office. It is learned that Mrs. Graham is quite ill just now and he may be detained some time on that account.

Notice is received in the Governor's office here from the United States War Department that Major Schumm of Fort Caswell, has been detailed to investigate for the United States Government the damage in this State from the recent terrible floods. Major Schumm is to have a conference with Governor Glenn at Monroe tomorrow. The Governor is expected here from a campaign trip in which he is now engaged Saturday.

Ira Oakley, the young white man who was brought back to Raleigh from Clarksville, Va., last June to answer the charge of burning the residence of J. M. Underwood, the wife and child of Underwood perishing in the flames, was held this morning before Justice of the Peace Charles Seaparks with the result that Oakley was bound over to the next term of criminal court. He has been in jail here since July without hearing until now. The Underwood home was in the Fuquay Springs section of the county and was destroyed while Underwood was attending church close by. Oakley fled the country immediately after the fire, having previously threatened to "get even with Underwood" for some quarrel they had.

The Thomas B. Whitted Company, Charlotte, received a charter today, capital $100,000 authorized and $1,200 subscribed for a general machinery supply business, including electric appliances, J. R. Purser, F. I. Osborne principal incorporators. The Horne Land and Lumber Company, Mocksville, capital $15,000 by A. B. Horn and others. The J. Rosengarten Company, Raleigh, for clothing and furnishings, capital $24,000 by J. Rosengarten, C. R. Boon and others. Perry Mercantile Company, Okiska, N. C., capital $25,000 by J. C. Perry and others. The Albemarle Development Company, Belhaven, capital $4,000 by J. A. Wilkerson and others. The Gaston Hospital, Gastonia, capital $100,000 by A. E. Moore and others.

Notices of dissolution of corporate life are filed with the Secretary of State by the Huckleberry Springs Company, Durham, the Blades Lumber Company, Newbern, and the Belhaven Lumber Company.

The Adjutant General of the National Guard has received the resignation of Daniel G. Fowle as adjutant of the Second Regiment.

The faculty and students of the A. & M. College have adopted resolutions paying fitting tribute to the late Hon. S. L. Patterson, Commissioner of Agriculture, who, as Commissioner of Agriculture and for a long while chairman of the board of trustees of the College contributed in a large measure to the growth and development of the institution.

President D. H. Hill, in referring to the work of Mr. Patterson in connection with the college, declared that three of the principal buildings were really memorials to the faithful and effective effort of Mr. Patterson for the betterment of the College. These are the Watauga and Pullen halls and the splendid new $80,000 Agricultural building.

Walter L. Watson, as counsel for Dr. D. S. Rowland, has instituted suit against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and, while the complaint has not been filed, it is stated on good authority that the suit is for the recovery of life insurance on the life of his little son whose death in Vance county brought about the arrest of Dr. Rowland on the charge of poisoning the boy. He was discharged for lack of evidence, and then, it will be remembered, was rea-arrested and put on trial for his life on the charge of poisoning Engineer Strange. The summons in the case against the Metropolitan Company was served today on the State Commissioner of Insurance.

An especially creditable record of municipal progress for the past year was shown last night in the annual meeting of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce. Colonel Charles E. Johnson was re-elected president and Colonel F. A. Olds secretary.

The report referred to a recent gift received by the St. Mary's Episcopal College here of $35,000 by Mrs. Clements, a New England lady who was for many years a teacher in the school.

A. H. Eller, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, announces that he has perfected the itinerary of Hon. Jno. W. Kern, Democratic nominee for Vice President, in North Carolina. He will be in Asheville Monday, October 5th; Guilford Battle Ground, near Greensboro, October 6th; Greensboro, October 6th at night; Winston-Salem, October 7th. With him will be Col. J. Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, who will also deliver addresses.

BRYAN AND KITCHIN CLUB

Big Meeting Tonight at Court House With Address by Solicitor Duffy and Others—The Phonograph Idea Suggested.

Pursuant to adjournment last Thursday evening, the Bryan and Kitchin Democratic Club of New Hanover County, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the Court House and it is hoped to have a very large attendance, not only of members but of all good Democrats interested in the welfare of the party State, county and Nationally.

President Cameron F. MacRae is arranging an entertaining programme for the meeting, including an address by Solicitor Rodolph Duffy, who is expected in the city today on his return from Pender Superior Court at Burgaw. Mr. Duffy comes to make no set speech, but those who have heard him on the stump of yore are confident that he will take care of himself handsomely before his many friends and admirers in New Hanover. Then in addition, there will be a number of local speakers, who will be asked to give in brief, some of their ideas of the political situation. It is hoped also to arrange with Messrs. J. W. Robinson & Co., to have one of the large Edison phonographs in the hall to give several addresses from Mr. Bryan. This style of campaigning has become quite popular in the West, especially in Chicago and the novelty of the thing will appeal to the big crowd that will certainly hear the Nebraskan tonight.

At the meeting tonight there will also be preparation for the monster Democratic rally which it is proposed to be held here on the night of September 30th when Mr. W. W. Kitchin, the Democratic nominee for Governor, will address the voters. The meeting tonight will not be made irksome and all who attended the organization meeting are certainly expected and each one is expected to bring a friend or more.

FRATERNAL MYSTIC CIRCLE.

State Supreme Deputy Here—Important Meeting and Social Session.

Mr. J. I. Thomason, of Wilson, N. C., State Supreme Deputy of the Fraternal Mystic Circle, of which there are two very progressive rulings in Wilmington, is in the city on an official visitation and is being cordially received by members of the order here. The officers and members of Carolina Ruling No. 345 are requested to meet at Dr. J. H. Dreher's office at 8 o'clock tonight, after which there will be a smoker and refreshments served at the hall of Mr. H. E. Bonitz, No. 213 1-2 Princess street. Members of Ruling No. 1935 are especially requested to meet with the officers and members of Carolina Ruling.

Mr. Thomason talks very interestingly of the work of the Mystic Circle in the State and is interesting a considerable number of Wilmington people in the fraternal and insurance benefits of the order. It is learned that it is not improbable that the Supreme State Deputy will soon move his headquarters to Wilmington. He would be cordially received and welcomed as a resident here.

District Deputy for Eastern Carolina.

Mr. Luther B. Markham, of Durham, will shortly assume the duties of district deputy of the Eastern District of North Carolina for the Elks' fraternity under a recent appointment by Grand Exalted Ruler Robert L. Holland, of Colorado Springs, Colo. In his jurisdiction there are the lodges of Wilmington, Durham, Raleigh, Newbern, Washington, Wilson, Elizabeth City, Rocky Mount and Fayetteville. Mr. Markham is one of the best known and most enthusiastic Elks in the State and represented the Durham lodge at the recent annual reunion at Dallas, Texas. In his new position he will make the usual annual visit to the Wilmington lodge some time soon.

The parlors are reached by elevator service and the ladies of Wilmington are most cordially invited.

RECEIVERS FOR MILL

Affairs of Monira Lumber Co., of This City, to be Wound Up in Court.

PLANT AT WHITE HALL, N. C.

Jos. W. Little, Esq., and B. J. Sanderlin Named by Judge Lyon in Chambers at Burgaw Yesterday—Assets.

Upon complaint of Messrs. Frank Gough, L. E. Whaley and J. A. Wooten, of Lumberton, N. C., who allege an indebtedness of something like $10,000 on a timber contract. Judge C. C. Lyon, in chambers at Burgaw yesterday, appointed receivers for the Monira Lumber Company, with offices at No. 402 Southern building, this city, and mill plant at White Hall, Bladen county.

The assets of the company are estimated at from $10,000 to $12,000 with liabilities estimated at $13,900. The general depression in the lumber market is attributed as the cause of the failure of the concern, which is a copartnership composed of Messrs. W. L. Currie, F. M. Roberts, I. C. Triplett and J. M. Currie, all young men who began business as the Monira Lumber Company only about 12 months ago just as the trade conditions were going from bad to worse.

Judge Lyon upon motion of Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy, counsel for the creditors named, who sued in behalf of themselves and all other creditors who desire to come in and make themselves parties plaintiff, granted the receivership upon the complaint, the allegations of which were admitted by the defendants. The receivers named are Jos. W. Little, Esq., of the Wilmington bar, and B. J. Sanderlin, a practical mill man of Bladen county, each of whom gives bond in the sum of $2,500 for the faithful discharge of the trust. The defendants in the suit are ordered to appear before Judge Lyon in Wilmington on Saturday, September 26th, to show cause why the receivership should not be made permanent.

The indebtedness to the creditors, Messrs. Whaley and Gough, is understood to be on certain timber privileges sold to the defendants upon which $5,000 had been paid, a note having been transferred to Mr. Wooten, the third party plaintiff. The assets of the company consist of certain timber at the mill, which it is understood to be the purpose of the receivers to cut and market, applying the proceeds to an equitable settlement with the creditors. Mr. Bellamy returned to the city last night from Burgaw where he appeared before Judge Lyon, presiding at the present term of Pender Superior Court.

AS TO BRIDGE QUESTION

Commissioners Issue Statement in Regard to Northeast River Ferry.

It having come to the ears of the County Commissioners that if the proposed bond issue in the election next week carries at the polls, they will spend a large portion of the funds in buying the Blossom ferry at Castle Haynes, a signed statement was issued yesterday to the effect that at a joint meeting of the Pender and New Hanover boards at Castle Haynes in 1906 they entered into a written agreement with Mr. Samuel Blossom, owner of the ferry, that should the commissioners desire to use the ferry site for the proposed bridge to be built jointly by the two counties, they would acquire the same by arbitration, two arbiters to be named by Mr. Blossom, two by the commissioners and these four to call in a fifth, mutually satisfactory, to say whether or not Mr. Blossom is entitled to any compensation at all for his franchise and ferry. In the meantime, attorneys for the two counties have examined fully into the law and find that Mr. Blossom's franchise will not operate against the building of a free bridge there and there may be no compensation whatever.

STILL PROVING POPULAR.

New Cameraphone Pictures at Crystal Palace Drawing Crowds.

The new programme of "talking pictures" presented by the Cameraphone at the Crystal Palace yesterday is said to have been a fine one and was enjoyed by a number of large audiences. The pictures were new and vivid and the "talking part" was, as ever, a delightful novelty. The same big bill will be in order again today. The matinees in the afternoons have proven exceedingly popular with the ladies and children.

Gore Case Again Postponed.

The case of W. I. Gore, charged with manslaughter and under $300 bond for appearance, was set for preliminary trial before Justice John J. Furlong yesterday, but was again postponed to enable the State to obtain additional witnesses to testify at the hearing. It will be recalled that Gore, is a recognized leader among the "Unknown Tongue" sect, and is alleged to have allowed a child, whom he had in his keeping, to die without offering it the proper medical attention. The trial was continued to next Monday.

THE NEGRO, NORTH AND SOUTH.

The negro is having a hard time among his friends and sympathizers (?) of the Northwest. Our readers are familiar with the recent disgraceful occurrences in Springfield, Ill., in which innocent negroes were made to suffer at the hands of lawless men. The negroes were driven out of the town. Peaceful, law-abiding members of that race were forced to seek homes elsewhere.

Many who had fled from that town to seek quiet homes and means of making a livelihood elsewhere among their Yankee friends have found no place where they could do so. The report got out that some of these negroes were going to settle in Gage Park, a suburb of Chicago. Immediately there was excitement in that section, the people declaring that no negro should settle there. The Chicago Tribune, a Republican paper, hearing of this, decided to investigate the matter. One of its representatives reported Deputy Game Warden Schulze of that locality as saying:

"The first negro that shows his face around here will wish a dozen times he had never heard of Gage Park. See those shot guns there? Everybody out this way has one of those. And what's more, everybody knows mighty well how to use his gun. Will we use them? You just bet we will. We don't want negroes here, and we are not going to have them. It won't be a case of tar and feathers for us. We wouldn't take that. We'd simply—well, just wait till one comes."

A dairy farmer of the same neighborhood is quoted by the same paper as saying:

"We won't stand for them here. There's no reason why they should come here, and if they do there's going to be more trouble than there was in Springfield. There's nothing for a 'nigger' to do in this place and we can't stand for any riffraff. What Schulze says about shotguns is right. We'll use them."

We publish these facts, not to prejudice the negroes against the people of the North, but to show that the white people of the South are the best friends the negroes have. No such hostile sentiments against negroes on the part of white people of the South are ever heard and no such brutal treatment of them ever occurs in this section of the country. In the South the negro who obeys the law and devotes his time and his energy to improving his condition is well treated, encouraged and respected; he does not have to suffer for the sins of the lawless element of his race. This is not the case in those sections mentioned above or in any other part of the North. The manner in which the negroes as a class are treated in the two sections of the country shows who are their best friends and where their interests lie.

CLEVELAND AND THE PRESENT CAMPAIGN.

As our readers know, there has been much comment of late because of the publication by a New York paper, which is opposed to Bryan, of a posthumous article by Cleveland advocating the election of Taft in preference to Bryan. In reference to this publication the Charlotte Observer says editorially that there is at least one passage in the alleged Cleveland article which goes far to establish its genuineness. It says if he did not really write the following sentences which occurred in the alleged article by him, he might have done so, for little is risked in saying they expressed his sentiments, which were:

"Dwelling on the unwisdom of prematurely acquiring colonies is fatuous, the national duty is neither to keep those colonies for their exploitation nor to cast them off to avoid the burden of their responsibilities. The questions involved are no more matters to be harrowed through the mill of politics than is the policy of the Panama Canal something to be stamped either as Republican or Democratic."

Commenting on this expression of views on the Philippine question, quoted as coming from Cleveland the Observer says:

"This is the statesman-like view of this subject Clearly Mr. Cleveland thought the Philippines were acquired prematurely; equally he thought that having assumed those responsibilities it would be criminal and craven 'to cast them off to avoid the burden.' We do not see how there can be any argument about either of these propositions. We had no business in the Philippines in the first place, but having loosened the hold of Spain, a civilized power, upon them, and taken possession, we can by no means vacate them, leaving our allies there to an unfriendly fate and leaving the natives to lapse into a deeper barbarism than they knew before."

It was unfortunate for the American people that Cleveland's public career did not come a few years later or that recent public events did not occur a few years earlier. He was a statesman who lived ahead of his time and saw further into the future than did the people who made him President. Were he living today and in the prime of life he would be accepted as the greatest American statesman of the times by those who brought about his defeat and retirement from public life through inability to appreciate the man or to understand the motives which led him to take the course he did during his second term of office wherein he preferred to sacrifice his political career to his duty to the people.

MISSISSIPPI NIGHT-RIDERS.

"You are ordered to stop your gin at once and not resume until further orders. We are not your enemy, but your friend. So take heed and close, for we intend to have our rights."

The above is the wording of notices which have been secretly posted on public gins in Mississippi. This is in line with the action of the night-riders in Kentucky where the effort was made to prevent tobacco growers selling their tobacco to such purchasers as they chose to deal with. The question is will the authorities and the people of Mississippi allow the men who wish to put their cotton on the market to be intimidated by such proceedings of secret law-breakers. Such conduct is anarchistic, a species of suppression of the rights of the people that should be nipped in the bud. No doubt these Mississippi fellows were emboldened by the immunity granted the lowless crowd in Kentucky. They should be made to understand that the law-abiding people of Mississippi will put up with no such lawlessness. We hope that such example will be made of the men who attempt to interfere with the running of gins as to prevent repetition of the offense.

"A very large snake was seen near the corner of Craven and Pollock streets yesterday. The reptile wiggled away to a place of safety but it looked as if it had swallowed a dog."—Newbern Journal.

In these days of frequent scares about maddogs and of loose enforcement of dog ordinances, if Newbern has a snake which has a propensity as well as the capacity for swallowing dogs her people should protect that snake and give it the freedom of the city.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—Mr. Van Cleave insists that the form of government amounts to very little—the thing to be desired is the right man to administer the laws. Give us the president and congress and we care not what laws you make is the doctrine now taught and that is why all the theories of Bryan have been adopted to make Mr. Taft president. Roosevelt cares nothing for the laws—Taft endorses Roosevelt. It is well for the people to understand this when they vote.

—The ease with which Mr. Bryan bowled over with libellous Cannon was a fine exhibition of the power of conscious honesty over unscrupulous malice; and the promptness with which the routed slanderer stuck his methaphorical tail between his fugacious legs, and tried to slink off under the pretense that the offensive imputation "was a joke," was a spectacle to make devils weep. A man of decent instincts could not have been guilty of such a groundless and gratuitous insult to a political opponent, and no man, unless a coward, having flung out such a challenge, could have resorted to so thin a subterfuge to escape the consequences.—Virginian-Pilot.

—The real attack made on Mr. Cox, because of his alleged enmity to labor, was made by a gentleman who lived in High Point at the time of the strike, and who some days ago wrote a communication to The News, in which there appeared the following. "Now, Mr. Editor, if such is the case to whom is Mr. Cox to look for votes? He surely has not the nerve to even ask the support of the laboring classes of North Carolina, for did he not in March, 1906, lock men out in the High Point furniture factories for belonging to a labor union, posting notices that on and after a certain date all men in his employ would be locked out unless they withdrew from affiliation with any labor organization, when these men had made no demands upon him."—Charlotte News.

—The esteemed New York Tribune, commenting on The News and Courier's declaration that the Democrats should not seek the assistance of the negro voters to elect Mr. Bryan, remarks: "The South will not countenance a policy which might in time compel it to treat the colored man as a voter entitled to the same rights and privileges as other voters. It aims at his exclusion from the suffrage at the North as well as at the South. It will not accept his support on any terms even when the prize involved is the Presidency. It will continue to wage war upon him as a voter and a citizen even if he foolishly offers it his assistance this year in recapturing the Federal administration." But the Tribune is far estray when it asserts that support of Mr. Bryan by the negroes would be "foolish" on their part. On the contrary, the negroes are foolish not to divide their strength between the two parties. Once the negroes in the doubtful States show a little independence, the Republicans will cease to ignore them.—News and Courier.

—There is nothing half-hearted in President Roosevelt's commendation, any more than in his condemnation. He has taken the opportunity of a letter from an old-time ranch associate in Montana regarding Bryan's claim to be the true inheritor of his "policies," to prepare an elaborate reply, which obviously was intended for publication. He would hardly have written a letter to Conrad Kohrs of Helena as long as a letter of acceptance or a President's message ought to be, setting forth the merits of Mr. Taft, his sympathy with those policies and his peculiar qualifications for completing them and giving them permanent effect, if it had not been really meant for the public and for an influence in favor of the election of his favorite candidate. Without passing upon the propriety of such an interposition, it may be said that the tribute which the President pays to his former Secretary of War is one of which he and all his friends and admirers may well be proud, and this letter to the Montana "cattle man" will go down to history as a unique campaign document, inasmuch as it shows the keen desire of the President to exert all his influence to secure the election as his successor of the candidate whose nomination he undoubtedly secured. It is given out simultaneously with the appearance of this letter that he will not "go on the stump" for his candidate. That he could not do with any semblance of propriety or dignity, but he could answer a private letter of an old friend; at least he has done so, and allowed it to be published abroad, and it will probably be more effective than a whole series of stump speeches.—Journal of Commerce.

—Winston Sentinel: Dr. George H. Detwiler of Greensboro, temporary superintendent of the new Methodist Orphanage, which will be erected in this city, was here last night and addressed the stewards of Centenary Methodist church on the progress of the new orphanage. He only spoke about half an hour but his address was to the point. He stated that the site of the new orphanage was an ideal location and that the committee could not have chosen a more beautiful place. He also stated that the Methodists here and throughout the State have a big work on their hands in the erection of the new orphanage as they will receive many more calls for homeless children than they will be able to accommodate. He stated that it would require $250,000 to establish the orphanage on sound working principles.

A Diplomatic Encounter.

[Original.]

I will not dwell on how I, a woman, got into the foreign secret service. Father died insolvent. Mother and I were reduced from affluence to positive want. I applied to a friend in the foreign office for a clerkship. It happened that at the time the Americans were aiming at a treaty with Japan that would be prejudicial to our interests. An emissary of the state department at Washington was on his way via the Mediterranean with the treaty. The vessel he traveled in was to stop at Marseilles.

I confess I was shocked at the proposition that was made me—I, who had never done a mean thing in my life—to wheedle a knowledge of the drift of the treaty out of the American. But the reward was great, enough to keep mother and me in comparative comfort.

In social life I had been considered what the Americans call "a flirt," but I was never dishonorable. I would never attack a man unless he was inclined that way himself. Now I was expected to win one simply for pay.

The temptation was too great for me. I yielded. I boarded the ship at Marseilles. Roger Sutherland, whom I was to snare, was a modest looking, quiet man. I soon made his acquaintance, and he seemed to take to me at once. He said that if it were not for my accent he would not believe me to be English; that I had all the sprightliness of an American girl. The game I was playing was natural to me. I didn't have to try to win him. If I had possibly I might have failed.

But, as to stealing the information, I didn't know where to begin. We had passed through the canal before I ventured to make a move in that direction. I began by asking his occupation. He prevaricated. I teased him. He told me that he had a government position, and that was all that I could get out of him for a long while. Then suddenly he told me everything. I wondered why he who had so long been reticent should have changed so quickly. He answered my every question, and truthfully. The treaty was in his trunk in his stateroom. Did he not fear it would be stolen? No. There was a lock on the trunk that had been made for it. The key was of a peculiar kind. The next time we were on deck together, feigning to be moved by a natural feminine curiosity, I teased him to let me see the key. He took it out of his pocket and handed it to me. Feigning an intention to frighten him I ran to the side of the ship and held it in my fist over the water. He didn't even follow me. So I took it back and gave it to him. I had provided myself with a bit of wax and had squeezed an impression of the key.

Pretending that I had lost the key of my own trunk, I called for one of the ship's mechanics to make me another from the wax impression. My victim invariably spent an hour or more after dinner in the smoking room. I took a great risk. I entered his stateroom and with the key made from the impression opened the trunk, found the treaty, took it to my stateroom, copied it—it was in cipher—and got it back to the trunk in plenty of time to avoid getting caught.

With success came the pricking of conscience. I told my victim of my circumstances, the loss of my father, my effort to obtain employment and ended by falsely telling him that I was going out to India to be a governess. From that moment his manner changed toward me. I had considered before that my success was due to having won his heart. Now I was sure of it. Then he asked me to be his wife.

Now, for the first time, I realized that if I had won him I had been won in winning him. Whatever was good in my nature rebelled at my trickery. I longed to confess it and throw myself upon his mercy. But I dared not. From loving me he would despise me. I told him that I could never be his wife; that there was a barrier between us; that I was unworthy of him. He soothingly reassured me, said my conscience was abnormally sensitive; that he was sure one so lovely could not do anything very wrong.

The night before we reached Bombay we were on deck together under the starry heavens.

"Sweetheart," he said, "we part tomorrow. It rests with you whether our parting shall be forever or I shall call on you on my return. You are not cut out for a diplomat, but you will make a good wife for one."

"A diplomat! I a diplomat!"

He took my hand. "I suspected you the moment you began to play your game, and I played mine to trap you. I gave you my key on purpose and knew how you used it by traces of wax adhering to it. Certain pages of the manuscript you stole were loosely tacked together, and I found them detached. I was disappointed to learn all this, but when afterward you told me how you had been tempted I pitied you. You are a lady and out of your element. I would be sorry for you losing your pay if I wished you to earn pay in that way."

"And my copy of the cipher dispatch?" I faltered. "I will give it to you at once."

"Don't hurry. It is no cipher, but a jumble intended to deceive you."

"And do you mean that you can love one who has made this abject attempt?"

"If we only loved those who were perfect there would be no marriage. You have simply been parted for a brief time by circumstances from your natural self."

NORMAN HACKETT'S COMING

Party From Fort Caswell Will Witness Stirring Military Drama Here.

Messrs. Cowan Brothers, managers of the Academy of Music, have received a communication from Major Hermann C. Schumm, commanding the United States Army post at Fort Caswell, acknowledging with pleasure the kind invitation for the opening night with Mr. Norman Hackett, in "Classmates," and promising to be present with such of the officers from the post as can be spared. With local military officers and their wives, the officers from the post with their wives and lady friends will occupy complimentary boxes at the theatre for the evening and after the show, the visitors will be entertained by the local military officers.

The play of Mr. Hackett this season is strictly American. In it Mr. Hackett plays the part of a poor tradesman's son who has fought his way to the top of his class at West Point and who, to protect his father, strikes a blow that robs him of all prospects of reaping any reward from his four years' course and loses him the girl of his heart. There is something intensely natural about the part, Duncan Irving, and Mr. Hackett makes it real by putting forth all his powers and by making use of the full weight of his unique personality. Time shows him to be a dangerous adversary, capable of slaughtering his opponent or driving him out of respectable society. He has a distinctly marked, commanding influence over his companions, and uses it with rare tact and judgment in the Jungle scene, for the salvation of his classmate. Seats will go on sale at Plummer's tomorrow.

"Strikingly beautiful" is the general verdict of all who have seen the magnificent first act, and thrillingly beautiful spectacles that Al G. Feld has made the features of his Greater Mintrel Show this season. Mr. Field has apparently overcome the impossible in stage-craft, by presenting his company in what is declared a series of the most exquisite stage pictures ever conceived for a theatrical production. The first part alone is a marvel of exquisite taste and ingenuity, the lighting effects being worthy of an Aladdin for their rival effulgence that wizard cast by his wonderful lamp. The hot house, or conservatory scene in the first part, is rich in embellishment, and with its wealth of foliage and flowering shrubs, all electrically articualted, it reveals in Mr. Field, its designer, a master craftsman. With the opening of the entertainment, to the last word which ends the series of splendid spectacles in the olio, there is not a single bizarre note in the entire scheme of light and color, so it is said.

Every flower and plant is illumined by a light of its own especial color, and the myriad colored lights which play on the cascades of water in the electrical fountain in the background throws the entire ensemble of light, color and perspective into one harmonious whole.

Field Greater Minstrels will appear at the Academy Monday night.

The interesting case of Mr. Herbert Hankins, which was set for trial yesterday before Justice George Harriss, on account of the absence of the prosecuting witness, A. B. Joyner, a colored preacher, was postopned until next Wednesday. The daughter of Joyner alleges that he was threatened and skipped out to avoid appearing in several cases in which he is the principal witness.

CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATS

State Convention Nominates a State Ticket and Congressman-at-Large.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 16.—In many ways the Democratic State convention which today placed in the field a State ticket and a nominee for Representative-at-large in Congress, was unique in the annals of gathering of delegated representatives of a political party in Connecticut. It was a convention in which former Governor Thos. M. Waller was the choice of nearly every delegate for Governor, but who found it a physical impossibility to respond to the call of the party. He made the delegates ratify the name of Judge A. Heaton Robertson, of New Haven, for Governor. Rollin U. Tyler, was nominated for Lieutenant Governor and Christopher Avery was named for Congressman-at-large.

The platform adopted is a lengthy document. Fifteen of its sixteen planks are given up to State issues.

Now Is the Time to Advertise in The Star.

TAFT'S SPEAKING TOUR

The Itinerary of His Three Trips Definitely Decided Yesterday—Will Probably Speak In This State.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 16.—Judge William H. Taft will make three campaign tours. His first will begin here September 23rd and end October 7th at Galesburg, Ill. The trip will take him through Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Missouri and Kansas.

The second trip, which will be arranged in detail later, will take him into Kentucky, Tennessee and possibly North Carolina.

The last trip will be in the East. New York City will be visited and a speech will be made in the northern part of the Empire State. It has been decided that New England will not be included in this trip but speeches will be made in Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

This plan of campaign for the Republican Presidential candidate was decided on today at an important conference between Judge Taft, Chairman Hitchcock, of the Republican National Committee; Senator Dixon, of Montana, director of the Western Speakers' bureau; Charles Nagel, National Committeeman from Missouri, and in charge of the Chicago Republican headquarters; Robert A. Ballinger, member from Washington, of the advisory committee and A. I. Vorys.

HEARST AND HISGEN

Opened the Campaign of Independence Party in Kentucky.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16.—The Kentucky campaign of the Independence party was opened tonight at Phoenix Hill Park by Thomas L. Hisgen, the candidate for President, and William R. Hearst. Each was given a cordial welcome by the crowd of 1,500 people.

The meeting was called to order by J. E. Merrick, National committeeman for the Independence party in Kentucky. Mr. Hisgen declared that the Independence party was the first since the Civil War to give tangible evidence that it represented the whole country, North and South by bringing together as its leaders on the ticket a man from Massachusetts and a man from Georgia.

The candidate declared himself to be the "only candidate of the three who can call Mr. Roosevelt's bluff, and do justice to the high class scoundrels which are ruling the country."

Mr. Hearst said that he would act as Mr. Graves' substitute, and would begin by rejoining to Mr. Kern's reply to Mr. Graves' challenge to join the debate. He declared that Mr. Kern was in error in saying that he agreed with Mr. Graves on all points except Baptism. Mr. Hearst said he was sure Mr. Graves never agreed to the righteousness of the drafting of a candidate for Vice President by a boss whose fortune comes largely from the operation of a gambling hell.

"The situation in New York," he continued, "aptly typifies on a smaller and more easily comprehended scale the conditions in the United States at large. The two old parties offer the people merely a choice between a candidate owned by corporations and a candidate owned by a boss who is in turn rented by any corporation needing him. Chanler is but a gilded watch charm on Murphy's chain. Hughes sole claim to public consideration is his opposition to race track gambling—one lone service rendered the people, set over against how many, how many, to the corporations.

"What business had Bryan to make such allies as Murphy and McCarren and allow them to choose the issues and lay out the lines of battle? I stood with him when he fought corruption. Now that we have a new Bryan, a dangerously new Bryan, I fight against him as hard as I fought for him."

STANDARD OIL INVESTIGATION

Testimony Showing Cuts by Competing Campanies to Under-Sell It.

New York, Sept. 16.—The Standard Oil attorneys brought out a great deal of testimony of indiscriminate price cutting by competitors, at the continuation today of the hearing in the Government suit. Witnesses from Maryland and Virginia were placed on the stand, and they arraigned several independent companies, prominent among them being the Red C. Oil Company.

Edward C. Eitel a special agent of the Standard Oil Company, charged the Red C. Oil Company not only with cutting the price in order to get trade away from the Standard in his territory—Virginia—but also with coloring its oil with a red dye and representing to the more ignorant people that the colored oil was both a better illuminant and safer to use in the lamps.

"Does not the Standard also sell red oil?" asked Mr. Kellogg, the Government inquisitor.

The witness found himself obiliged to admit it, saying that his company was compelled to do so in order to meet the demand. "Many persons in that section," he argued, "think it looks better in the lamp and is more 'exclusive' than common white oil.'

N. V. Whaley, a Lynchburg salesman, named many dealers in illuminating and lubricating oils and gasoline in his section who, he said, had bought their supplies from Standard competitors at prices that were so greatly reduced they could not refuse. On the other hand, the witness declared, he never had made any cuts to get business. All the cuts the Standard made in his section in the past two years, he said, were for the purpose solely of retaining or re-gaining its business. "The Standard had the business before its competitors came into the field," he declared, "and there was no reason why it should make cuts."

FOREST FIRES BURNING

Break Out Afresh in Michigan and Several Towns Are Again Threatened With Destruction—Settlers Alarmed.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 16.—Anmeek, a populous mining town five miles north of here, is threatened again with destruction. Reports today say forest fires have broken out afresh and if the wind arise widespread damage is certain. People have packed their belongings and are ready to leave. A few miles further north Ojibway is experiencing anxiety, fires being near the mining location. The Calumet and Hecla and Tamarack Companies have men fighting the fires near their pumping plants on the Lake Superior shore, five miles northwest of here. A special from Houghton, Mich., says forest fires extending over sixty miles of timberland have broken out again the Houghton and Kenaw counties. The fires are still five miles from Houghton. A thick pall of smoke hanging over the copper country has made navigation on Portage lake difficult.

A special from Menominee, Mich., says. After smouldering for a week the forest fires north of Green Bay and extending as far as Marinette and Menominee have broken out afresh and mills and lumber yards which were considered out of danger from the flames are again threatened. At Hermansville, Menominee county, 300 fire drilled employes of the Wisconsin Land and Lumber Company beat back the flames which twice attacked the yards of the company.

A PECULIAR DEATH.

Man Killed While Examining Pistol His Secretary Had Found.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Montclair, N. J., Sept. 16.—John Leonard, a retired iron and steel merchant, was fatally shot under peculiar circumstances at his home today here. Walker Phillips, Mr. Leonard's private secretary, on his way to the house, found a revolver in the street and it was with this weapon that Mr. Leonard met his death.

Phillips told the police that his aged employer asked to see the revolver when he was told of it and that it exploded in his hand while he was examining it. The bullet entered his body over the heart and Mr. Leonard died before the doctor arrived.

Phillips, who is more than 50 years of age, was placed under arrest, though the police are inclined to credit his story. The two men were alone when the fatal incident occurred, but Mrs. Leonard and a nurse were in an adjoining room and say they heard no angry words or any other evidence of a quarrel between the two men.

Mr. Leonard retired from business about six years ago and had some interest in Phillips, making him his secretary.

ARKANSAS ELECTIONS.

Hot Local Option Fight in Little Rock. Wets Won.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Little Rock, Ark. Sept. 16.—Charges of frauds at the polls in the election held in Little Rock Monday, when thisr city was voted "wet" despite a strenuous campaign of anti-saloon people, will be filed in court by the leaders in the prohibition movement, according to the announcement of E. A. Tabor, field manager of the Arkansas Anti-Saloon League, tonight. Mr. Taber declares that a mass of evidence has already been secured and that as soon as all of the evidence is ready, charges will be made in court and an investigation started. He further declared that he belived there was sufficient evidence to cause a change in the declared result of the election as far as the vote on the whiskey is concerned. The anti-saloon workers will charge "repeating of votes and importation of voters."

The latest returns indicate that Donaughey, Democratic candidate for Governor, has received probably 65,000 majority, an increased Democratic vote.

VOTE TO RAISE QUARANTINE.

On Cattle in Certain Southern States. Meeting of Association.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Sept. 16.—If the recommendations adopted at the 12th annual meeting of the Inter-State Association of Live Stock Sanitary Boards at its concluding session here today are approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, the Federal quarantine regulations for preventing the spread of the Texas or "Tick" fever in cattle in certain Southern States, will be raised next year. The Association voted for the lifting of the quarantine against cattle in certain areas in Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Oklahoma.

Cattle in certain areas in the States mentioned are said to be entirely free from the Texas fever as a result of the campaign waged for its eradication by the Department of Agriculture and the State authorities. W. H. Dalyple, of Baton Rouge, La., was elected president of the association.

THREATEN THE FARMERS.

"Night Riders" in Mississippi Stop the Selling of Cotton.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Meridian, Miss., Sept. 16.—A special to the Dispatch from Sandersville, 50 miles south of Meridian says:

"Night Riders have appeared in Jones county and the prominent farmers living six miles east of here received notices Monday night to haul no more cotton to gin under threat that they would 'get paid' as they returned home. A notice also was placed on the public roads, warning all farmers to cease hauling cotton after September 14th.

"Considerable excitement prevails and farmers near town are rushing their cotton in while those farther away have ceased hauling to the gins."

WARM WIRELETS.

At Sour Lake, Texas, yesterday lightning struck the five acre earthen tank belonging to the Texas Oil Company. The tank contained about forty thousand barrels of Oklahoma crude oil. The loss is $50,000.

Captain A. E. Maxwell, general agent of the Seaboard Air Line, with headquarters in Jacksonville, Fla., and one of the best known railroad men in the South, died suddenly at Gainesville, Ga., yesterday of heart trouble. He was 65 years old.

"Old Fort Cottage," one of the finest residences on the estate of George W. Vanderbilt at Asheville, was burned to the ground last night entailing a loss of $50,000. The cottage has been occupied by C. W. R. Radeker and family. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The British steamer Manchester Spinner, which arrived at Rotterdam on the 14th from Pensacola and Norfolk, landed the crew of the British barkentine Grenada from Cambellton, N. B., for New York, before reported abandoned August 31st in latitude 40, longitude 61.

Owen Moran, the English featherweight, was matched with Eddie Hanlon at San Francisco yesterday to fight twenty rounds on the night of September 30th. Moran will take the place of Freddie Welsh. The men are to weigh 133 pounds or less on the afternoon of the contest.

Five additional deaths as a result of the explosion of black powder at Windsor, Mo., Tuesday, occurred at the hospitals in Sedalia yesterday. This bring the total dead up to 12. Among those who died was Conductor A. F. Herschberger who according to testimony, brought out at the coroner's jury, threw the match which caused the explosion, but who laid the blame on a negro.

The difference between the Automobile Club of America and the American Automobile Association, the two famous automobiling organizations in America, have been settled and the two bodies will co-operate in working for the success of both the Vanderbilt Cup race and the Grand Prize races announced by the Automobile Club of America to be held at Savannah, Ga.

BAD ITALIAN AMUCK

Florida Tragedy in Which Officer and Murderer Were Killed.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

St. Petersburg, Fla., Sept. 16.—Constable E. A. George was killed here today by an unknown Italian who was later killed in a desperate fight with Policeman Belcher. The Italian came here from Tampa and practically took possession of Captain Tuttle's home. The police were notified and the man was carried to jail where he made an attack on Constable George who was alone with the prisoner. Shots in the jail attracted citizens and when the police went to the scene they were attacked by the Italian. Several shots were fired and finally the fire company was called out and played a stream of water on the Italian. After two hours of fighting Policeman Belcher succeeded in shooting the Italian.

The Sea Serpent.

When fourteen miles off the coast of Brazil M. J. Nicoll, author of "Three Voyages of a Naturalist," observed a sea serpent which came within about fifty yards of the ship. "All that we could see was a dorsal fin about four feet long sticking up about two feet from the water. The fin was a brownish black color and much resembled a gigantic piece of ribbon seaweed. Below the water we could indirectly see a very large brownish black patch, but could not make out the shape of the creature. Every now and then the fin disappeared below the water. Suddenly an eel-like neck, about six feet long and of the thickness of a man's thigh, having a head shaped like that of a turtle, appeared in front of the fin, lashing up the water with a curious wriggling movement. This creature was an example, I consider, of what has been so often reported, for want of a better name, as the 'great sea serpent.' I feel sure, however, that it was not a reptile that we saw, but a mammal."

Bought His Own Work.

To come across a bit of one's own work in print is an experience not ordinarily exasperating to an author, but a Washington writer on scientific matters was recently not very agreeably surprised by such a development.

It appears that the writer was collecting material for a monograph on electro magnetism when word came to him of a valuable paper on the subject not long before published in a Berlin journal devoted to science. Thinking that the paper would be of use to him in the work in hand, he had it translated. When the English version was laid before him, together with quite a bill for the translator's labor, what was the disgust of the writer to find that the article was nothing more or less than a German reproduction of an article of his own published the year before in an English journal. And he had paid twice as much for the translation as he had received for the original article!—Washington Star.

A Dream Superstition.

I heard what was to me at least a new piece of superstition the other day and when I think of the risks I've run all these years because I didn't know of it my blood runs cold. I met a woman from Virginia in market, and the talk falling on dreams I recalled a most blood curdling nightmare I had had the night before.

"I must tell you what I dreamed last night," I said.

"Let me ask first whether it's a pleasant or an unpleasant dream?" said the lady from Virginia.

"Decidedly unpleasant."

"Then for mercy's sake don't tell it!" said she. "Never tell a bad dream on Saturday, for we say in Virginia:

"Friday night's dream on Saturday told
Is sure to come true, no matter how old."

AN ANCIENT HIGHWAY.

England's Great North Road Is Two Thousand Years Old.

Before we reached Hatfield, a few miles out of London, we had already been impressed with the magnificence of this Great North road, which is said to have been built by a Mr. Caesar, whose headquarters were in Rome at the time. It is the direct route from London to Edinburgh and has been traveled for so many centuries that the earliest histories of England contain accounts of the movement of troops upon it. It is a great thoroughfare for vehicles of all sorts, motorists and cyclists, and in these modern days there are well worn footpaths along either side for pedestrians. We passed scores of motors, and I was told while in England that the popularity of motoring had noticeably diminished the number of first class travelers by rail. We found the road for its entire length of 400 miles in perfect condition. In many portions the macadam is said to be nine feet thick. Long sections of the road are oiled, and on no part of it was there any appreciable amount of dust. There are few sharp curves, and the grades are so slight that it has become a great thoroughfare for speeders, with the result that there are many police traps for which one has to watch. We found that we could stop in almost any little village and get information as to just where the traps were located—as, for instance, they told us at Bigleswade, which is a better looking place than its name, to look out for traps just the other side of Buckden and again in approaching Weston.—Frank Presbrey in Outing Magazine.

Sure Enough Hogs.

Mose, the darky cook of a party of surveyors in eastern Texas, was greatly annoyed by the razorback hogs that roamed around the camp. One evening while he was at the spring a particularly ravenous band of these "piny woods rooters" raided the cook tent and ate up everything that was edible and some things that weren't. For several moments after his return from the spring Mose could find no words to express his feelings. "Waal," he finally exclaimed, "de good Lawd subtainly knowed his business when he named hawgs 'hawgs!' Dey sho' is hawgs!"—Everybody's Magazine.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—The first frost of the season occurred in Jackson county, where a slight frost was noticeable on the lowlands on the 10th.

—Newbern Journal: The concrete foundation for the monument of the Massachusetts soldiers in the National cemetery is completed. It is said that the monument has been shipped and the date for the unveiling will be some day near October 15th.

—Kinston Free Press. Hon. Walter Murphy, of Salisbury, Democratic candidate for elector at large of North Carolina, passed through the city this morning enroute for Bayboro, where he is to make a political address. Mr. Murphy will address the citizens of Kinston next Monday night.

—A monument to the Confederate soldiers and sailors of Halifax and Northampton counties will be dedicated at Weldon Thursday. Col. R. E. Lee, Jr., of Virginia, will deliver the oration and the monument will be unveiled by Miss Esther Ransom, daughter of the late Senator Ransom.

—Charlotte News: Mr. Frank P. Milburn, the architect for the skyscraper in this city, has been fortunate enough to secure the architectural work on the bureau of engraving and printing for the Chinese government at Pekin. China has decided to print her own money, and it is interesting to see coming this way some material results from the great reforms instituted in that country.

—Columbia, S. C., Sept. 15.—John D. Farr, nominated in the primaries for Superintendent of Education of Lexington county, has committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. He had been dead for several hours when found by his wife and daughter. He was of a nervous temperament and the strain of the campaign told heavily on him. He was to have gone to Winthrop College today, where his daughter was to have begun her third year in school.

—Chapel Hill, Sept. 14.—There are already 690 students enrolled at the University—and they are still coming on every train. This enrollment exceeds that of last year by 39, up to date. The young man Cooper, who was hurt in a practice game of "tackling the dummy," on the football grounds, seems to be in a serious condition, partial paralysis developing from a dislocation of one of the cervical vertebrae. The brother of the young man, who is a practicing physician in Clinton, has been wired and is expected today.

—Goldsboro Headlight: Mr. J. R. Daniel, of New Hope township, met with quite a painful accident Sunday night while engaged in smoking out mosquitos by means of gun powder. A spark from the pan of live coals popped in the powder flash causing it to explode and fearfully burning Mr. Daniel's face and hands. Fragments of the bottle hit his 8-year-old daughter, cutting a gash in her forehead. His 6-year-old son was also struck from the explosion, causing a gash in his throat.

—News and Observer: Among the young men who are in Raleigh this year as students in The Medical Department of the University of North Carolina is a young Cuban, Mr. Adolfo Bartoleme Rodriguez, of Sague la Grande, Cuba. Mr. Rodriguez has spent two years at Chapel Hill at the State University, and is a popular and agreeable young man, who has made many friends. He is a son of Dr. Adolfo F. Rodriguez, superintendent of Pocurull Hospital at Sague la Grande, and is to spend two years in Raleigh.

—Tarboro Southerner: The September term of criminal court convened with Judge W. R. Allen on the bench. In making his charge to the grand jury Judge Allen stated "that gambling in every form should be suppressed. Your officers arrest negroes for shooting crap but the gambling in futures, especially cotton, causes the ruination of many young men. A business man of your community deals in futures and young men learn that he has made $5,000 on one deal, they attempt the same methods, with the results that they serve time in the penitentiary. As members of the grand jury you should investigate gambling in every form."

—Charlotte News: Mr. Egbert Davidson, who lives in the Hopewell section, had an exciting encounter with a mad dog a few days ago. As he came home from an absence he noticed his Scotch collie dog foaming at the mouth. He had not more than entered his yard before the dog, always devoted to him heretofore, made for him in a ferocious attack. Mr. Davidson had on a thick soled pair of shoes and as the dog got within reach he gave it a terrific kick upon the jaw which broke the bone. He then ran for his pitchfork and pinioned the dog with it while he secured an axe and with it ended the life of the creature. Mr. Davidson believed that he reached home just in the nick of time and that if he had waited the dog would have attacked members of the family.

—Asheville, Sept. 15.—News was received today of the death at Brasstown, Clay county, Saturday night of Mrs. Daniel Moore, mother of the late Judge Frederick Moore, of this city. Mrs. Moore's death was due to typhoid fever. She was taken ill about the time that Judge Moore returned to Asheville unwell, while shortly afterwards Miss Maggie Moore, a sister of Judge Moore, was also taken ill with typhoid. Mrs. Moore was never told of the death of her son. The condition of Miss Moore is reported critical and she has not been informed of the death of either her brother or her mother. Mrs. Moore was 62 years of age and a woman of high Christian character, greatly beloved by all who knew her. Surviving are a husband and three daughters. The daughters are: Mrs. Samuel Allison, Mrs. Bragg Allison and Miss Maggie Moore.

After suffering for seven years, this woman was restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read her letter.

Mrs. Sallie French, of Paucaunla, Ind. Ter., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I had female troubles for seven years—was all run-down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different troubles but did me no good. While in this condition I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now strong and well."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat your letter in confidence and advise you free. No woman ever regretted writing her, and because of her vast experience she has helped thousands. Address, Lynn, Mass.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Sept. 16.—The cotton market sold at the highest prices reached since the low level of September 2, during the day's midday session, but later eased off with the close steady at a net advance of 2 to 5 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 150,000 bales.

The market opened steady at a decline of 4 to 6 points in response to disappointing cables, less favorable Manchester advices, reports that the West Indian storm was passing out to sea, and a favorable weather map. But bearish traders were by no means aggressive and the market soon steadied on covering, becoming very firm during the middle of the day with October selling up to 9.01 and January to 8.72, or 12 to 13 points net higher and about 63 points above the recent low level of October contracts. This advance was due to Wall street support as well as a demand from shorts and was probably encouraged by reports of steadier interior markets and of a better demand for spot cotton from New England spinners. Some of the buying is believed to be based on expectations of a bullish October condition report on the second of that month and the approach of the frost period which is usually preceded by considerable nervousness on the part of shorts. The reaction late in the day was due to realizing and local pressure.

Receipts at the ports today 31,942 bales against 21,491 last week and 21,928 last year. For the week 160,000 bales against 128,829 last week and 150,862 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 4,028 bales against 1,764 last year and at Houston 11,548 bales against 4,998 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet, 10 points advance; middling uplands 9.50; middling gulf 9.75; sales none. Futures opened and closed steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Sept. 16.—There has been a fairly large sale of cotton goods for shipment to India and the export inquiry is somewhat better. The jobbers are still doing a steady business in small lots. Knit goods and hosiery for immediate shipment are in better request. Silk ribbons are active and soft finished satin faced silks in piece goods are selling freely. Cotton goods remain fairly steady with business being done at very close margins of profit.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Sept. 16.—All that E. H. Harriman had to impart concerning the properties in which he is interested fell far short of what the speculative imagination had been led to expect during weeks of buying of the stocks at steadily advancing prices. It was disappointment on this score that caused the crumbling of prices today more than any other factor. Mr. Harriman's terse reason for the great strength in the stocks of his railroads was that it was "because they were too weak before." The weakness today might be explained with equal justice as due to stocks having become too strong. Reading served as the instrument for support of the market as was the case yesterday. That stock was about the only one to show positive strength at any time. The course of the market was not an entire surprise to observers less closely concerned in the speculation. The extent of the rise in itself has suggested the approach of a reaction. The moderate pace of the business improvement had indicated the over-discounting of this in the securities market. The effort at liquidation finds little absorptive demand to meet it as the general public interest in the speculation has been at no time great. The active selling pressure continued up to the close, which was weak at the lowest prices.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, $3,236,000. United States 4s coupon declined 3-4 per cent, in the bid price. Total sales stocks today were 892,400 shares.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The wheat market today turned surprisingly active and strong, unexpected strength at Liverpool offsetting the effect on continued heavy arrivals in the Northwest. The corn market was under a great deal of pressure today, leading longs apparently leaving the market to take care of itself. December closed 5-8c and September 1 1-4c lower. Oats, December slightly lower, while provisions sold off sharply.

WERE NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION

Chanler and Others Candidates at Harmonious Convention of New York Democrats.

BRYAN GUEST OF HONOR

Senator McCarren Took the Platform "To Resent an Insult"—Judge Alton B. Parker Addressed the Convention.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Nominating all but one of its candidates by acclamation and adopting a platform which arraigns the administration of Governor Hughes and pledges earnest support to the Denver platform and candidates, the Democratic State Convention today nominated as the head of its ticket for Governor the present Lieutenant Governor of the State, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, of Dutchess county. John A. Dix, of Washington county was nominated for Lieutenant Governor. All opposition to Mr. Chanler disappeared after a caucus of the State leaders which occupied a greater part of last night. The ticket agreed upon by the leaders, with one exception, seemed to meet the approval of all the delegates, and the nominations were made with great enthusiasm until the office of State Engineer and Surveyor was reached. The conference candidate for this office was Philip P. Farley, of Brooklyn, an anti-McCarren man. Senator McCarren, amid the cheers of his supporters, took the platform "to resent an insult." He declared the nomination of Farley was agreed to without any regard to the Kings county delegation and was intended to embarrass them. He said he would always support Democratic nominees, but would not hold himself responsible for the action of the people who felt themselves insulted.

Farley won on a roll call, but a motion to make the nomination unanimous was lost by two or three scattering negatives.

This was followed by the address of Judge Alton B. Parker, who was permanent chairman of the convention.

The convention adjourned after United States Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, had made a brief address.

"The promises of reform upon which the present Governor was elected," the platform alleges, "have not been kept. We point as proof of this fact to the expenditures of 1907, which are larger than the extravagant sums expended under the predecessors of Governor Hughes. We charge him with the responsibility for this waste and with giving his time and attention to the pursuit of spectacular methods and select advertising issues, rather than to the work of reform and retrenchment, upon the proceeds of which he was elected Governor two years ago. We insist that in this most important feature of his administration he has been derelict and remiss. Instead of cutting off the tax eaters from the list of office-holders he has caused new ones to be added to it, and in the two public service commissions which have been brought into existence at his suggestion and dictation he has created office-holders who have woefully failed to better the condition of affairs confided to their charge."

Presiding over the convention hall assemblage was Judge Alton B. Parker, the Presidential candidate four years ago, who took advantage of the occasion to make a special pledge of his earnest fealty to the National ticket. As Mr. Bryan and Judge Parker stood side by side before the great assemblage the cheering welled up in a deafening roar. Mr. Bryan acknowledged Judge Parker's pledge of his own support and the support of the "United Democracy of the Empire State."

Judge Parker said: "The United Democracy of the State of New York joins heartily with the people of Rochester in bidding welcome to our guest of honor, and we pledge him our earnest support until victory comes."

"It is worth coming a long ways" said Mr. Bryan, "to participate in the closing hours of a great convention in this country's greatest State.

"I appreciate Judge Parker's cordial words in presenting me to you. I appreciate the pledge he has given and especially do I appreciate his own earnest part in the fulfillment of that pledge.

"I am gratified that the great convention which closed today placed at the head of its ticket one so worthy to carry the party's standard in this State. Mr. Chanler represents a class that I believe will be a growing class in this country. He is a man of means whose money has not weaned him from sympathy with the common people. Relieved of the necessity of active toil, he prefers a life of usefulness to a life of idleness. I believe we are entering upon a new era in American politics and in the years to come I believe that more men than in the past of Mr. Chanler's type will consecrate their lives and their means to the good of their fellowmen.

"I appreciate the spirit of harmony that prevailed in this convention. All metals, my friends, fuse at some heat, and so there comes a degree of enthusiasm which wells us all together in a common cause. Everywhere throughout this broad country of ours the Democrats are getting together to get control of this government."

WOMAN WOUNDED NEGRO ASSAILANT

Wife of Georgia Citizen Led Posse in Chase of Negro Who Assaulted Her Child.

A LYNCHING PREVENTED

Mrs. Reed Emptied Two Barrels of Shot Gun Into Black Brute's Body. Begged Sheriff to Let Her Finish Him.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Power Springs, Ga., Sept. 16.—After forming and heading a posse to chase Robert Bostic, the negro, who had attacked her nine year old daughter, Mrs. Sarah Reed, wife of a prominent citizen, shot the negro full of birdshot as soon as he was overtaken.

Bostic was employed at the Reed home and enticed the little girl into an out building where he attacked her and then fled.

When the child told her mother, Mrs. Reed, her husband not being at home, armed herself with a shot gun, formed a posse of neighbors and led them in pursuit of the negro.

After a long chase the negro was discovered hidden behind a log in the woods.

Mrs. Reed called on members of the posse to stand back, raised her gun and discharged both barrels into the negro, probably fatally wounding him.

She began to reload the gun when the sheriff and deputies rode up and took charge of the negro.

Mrs. Reed, sobbing, begged the sheriff to let her finish Bostick.

The sheriff hurried the negro to Marietta to prevent a lynching.

The Rustin Homicide as Much a Mystery as at First.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 16.—County Attorney English, who, with the aid of the police department is investigating the mystery of the death of Dr. Frederick T. Rustin, reports that he has unearthed six important witnesses whose testimony has not yet become public. He says their testimony will materially help in the solution of the puzzle.

The mystery of the alleged disappearance of Dr. Rustin's hat and its later being found hanging in the hallway of his home was explained to the county attorney by a neighbor woman who says she picked up the hat on the morning of the tragedy and hung it where found.

The search for the revolver with which Dr. Rustin is supposed to have been killed is being prosecuted with the utmost care. So far as known no trace of the weapon has been found.

An attorney employed by certain interests connected with the Rustin case, says he has evidence to be disclosed later, tending to show that Dr. Rustin belonged to a suicide club, the members of which, the attorney argues, had met in the resorts where Dr. Rustin first encountered Mrs. Abbie Rice, who revealed in her testimony at the coroner's inquest the story of the death pact into which she and the doctor had entered.

J. H. McIntosh, agency attorney for the New York Life Insurance Company, of New York, a brother-in-law of Dr. Rustin, who was in Europe when the tragedy occurred, has returned to this country in response to a telegram and will come to Omaha to assume general direction for the family of the procedure to obtain the insurance the doctor left, which is said to have amounted to $75,000. One company has already announced its readiness to turn over $22,500, the full amount he carried.

HONORED JAMES J. HILL.

Veteran Employes of Great Northern Banquetted Him on Birthday.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—Surrounded by 70 of his faithful workmen, some of whom hold but menial positions in the great railroad system of which he is the head, and all of whom have been in the employ of the company since 1880 or before, James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern Railroad, tonight was the guest of honor at a banquet given in honor of his 70th birthday. The banquet was held at the LaFayette Club house, Lake Minnetonka. The party left St. Paul in a single coach, hitched behind the "William Crooks," the first engine used on the system, and which was brought to St. Paul in 1862. The engine was run by Al. H. Smith, who has been employed by the road since 1868.

Between courses there were informal talks by members of the party and a number of tales of railroad life and other reminiscences by Mr. Hill. Mrs. Hill was the only woman present. Among those present were engineers, blacksmiths, machinists and boiler makers.

MR. BRYAN SPEAKS ON PARTY ISSUES

He Makes a Speech to Immense Audience at New York. Convention Attendants.

MR. TAFT AND HIS SCARES

Is the Subject of the Democratic Candidate's Speech—He Replies to Mr. Taft on the Labor Question, Deposit Guarantee.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Rochester, N. Y., September 16.—A speech by W. J. Bryan in this city tonight on "Mr. Taft and his Scares" and two overflow talks, formed the climax of an eventful day in the present campaign. Arriving here shortly after 6 o'clock and met by thousands of persons, Democracy's leader was accorded an ovation. Along with him from Syracuse came the new nominee for Governor of New York, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler.

The principal speech tonight was in Convention hall where the Democratic State convention finished its labors today and which was packed to the doors tonight, with several thousands on the outside, unable to gain admittance. Mr. Bryan was accorded a great demonstration by his audience among whom were the Democratic leaders of the State and most of the delegates to the convention.

Mr. Bryan said in part: Mr. Taft confesses that his arguments are not convincing when he attempts to introduce scares and to threaten the public with dire disaster if he is not elected. A threat is always an admission that argument and persuasion had not been effective. Measured by his test Mr. Taft has already abandoned hope of convincing the public of the righteousness of his position.

"On the labor questions he declares that our demands for a trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt is the most insidous attack upon the judicial system in the history of the country. According to Mr. Taft it would very much impair the administration of justice. He seems to forget that the very reform which we endorse was endorsed by the United States Senate twelve years ago, and that it was supported by such Republicans as Senator Sherman, of Ohio; Senator Allison, of Iowa; Senator Hale, of Maine; Senator Hawley, of Connecticut; Senator Morrill, of Vermont, and Senator Nelson, of Minnesota. It is not attacking the courts to remove abuses that have grown up under existing methods of procedure.

"The Democratic party is the defender of the judiciary and the best way to defend it is to remove abuses which are likely to create a prejudice against a court in the minds of those who feel that injustice is done them.

"In discussing the guaranty of bank deposits, Mr. Taft betrays that same tendency to substitute gloomy forebodings for reason and argument. He says: 'If the proposals were adopted exactly as the Democratic platform suggests, it would bring the whole banking system of the country down in ruin.'

"There are 15,000,000 depositors in the United States, and they are calmly assured that the banking system can only be safe when the depositors are insecure—that to secure the depositors would make banking insecure. This logic may satisfy the big financiers from whom he has drawn his arguments, but it will not satisfy the millions whose deposits make banking profitable. His theory is that a guarantee fund would invite carelessness, but he overlooks the fact that mutual responsibility on the part of the bank would compel a stricter supervision and a better regulation. The banking fraternity ought to resent the reflection which he casts upon individual bankers when he assumes that there would be enough dishonest bankers to ruin the honest ones.

"Mr. Taft argues that it would be impossible to devise a successful guaranty system. He quotes Mr. Knox, former Comptroller of the Currency, as an authority against the guaranty plan, and yet Mr. Knox declares that the same plan, once tried unsuccessfully in New York, was introduced into Vermont with better safeguards and the law not only proved satisfactory in its operation, but 'raised the standard of banking throughout the State.' In Oklahoma the plan has been put into operation and it has resulted in the best regulation of banks that any State has yet attempted.

"Let the Republicans no longer accuse us of socialistic tendencies if tney prefer the postal savings bank, with its idefinite encroachments upon the banking business, to our system which leaves the banking business to the bankers and compels the banks to protect their depositors.

"The third scare presented by Mr. Taft is in the discussion of the trust question. He says that 'Mr. Roosevelt would compel the trusts to conduct their business in a lawful manner and secure the benefits of their operation and the maintenance of the prosperity of the country of which they are an important; while Mr. Bryan would extirpate and destroy the entire business in order to stamp out the evils which they have practiced.'

"Here is a contention by Mr. Taft that he regards the trusts as necessary to the nation's prosperity for he declares that they play an important part in the maintenance of prosperity and he charges that I would 'extirpate and destroy' business in extripating and destroying the principle of monopoly. Mr. Taft admits that the Republican party does not intend to prevent trusts. It only proposes to regulate them.

"The Democratic plan is to bring manufacturing and trading corporations under the surveillance of the general government when they reach a point where their control of business becomes a menace of the law would be the very ones which have been exploiting the country and evading the officers of the law. This plan instead of disturbing business would portect a multitude of legitimate corporations which are now in constant fear of being bankrupted by the unscrupulous methods of the monopolistic corporations.

"The fourth scare which Mr. Taft presents is excited by the Democratic declarations on the tariff question. Speaking of our platform pledge to make such radical reductions as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis he declares in his notification speech that 'the introduction in power of a party with this avowed purpose cannot but halt the gradual recovery from our recent financial depression and produce business disaster, compared with which our recent panic and depression will seem very small indeed.'

"Surely Mr. Taft cannot contemplate any material reduction of the tariff if he really believes that a gradual return to a revenue basis would involve us in any 'business disaster, compared with which our recent panic and depression will seem small indeed.'

Mr. Taft began his candidacy a year ago as a champion of tariff reform, but each month has witnessed a lessening of his zeal until now his temperature, measured by the tariff reform thermometer, is close to zero.

"The word 'reduction' does not appear in the Republican platform. It is 'revision,' not 'reduction,' and Mr. Taft has already interpreted the word 'revision' to mean the raising of some of the schedules and the lowering of others, but with no indication as to whether the average will be above or below the present."

CONGRATULATIONS TO CHANLER.

Bryan, on Hearing of Chanler's Nominations Sends Congratulations.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Soon after receiving word at Amsterdam, N. Y., of the nomination by the Democratic State convention of Lewis Steuyvesant Chanler for Governor, William J. Bryan, on his way to Rochester, sent him a telegram of congratualtion as follows.

"Lewis Chanler, Albany, N. Y.

"Please accept my hearty congratulation on the deserved honor done you by the Democratic convention. Your character and record will strengthen the Democratic cause.

"W. J. BRYAN."

Of Mr. Chanler Mr. Bryan had this to say:

"Mr. Chanler's nomination is very satisfactory. During his official career he has grown in popularity, and the compliment paid him by the convention was deserved. He represents a type of citizenship of which I hope to see an increasing number of representatives. He is a man of means, whose sympathies are with the masses and he finds a pleasure in rendering public service. I believe in the future we are going to have more of these men who, having enough of this world's goods to relieve them of possibility of want, will unselfishly devote their time to the consideration of public questions and to the rendering of intelligent service to their fellowmen. I have no doubt that Mr. Chanler will poll more than the party vote, and will give strength to the National ticket."

WRIGHT AEROPLANE IN FRANCE.

Wilbur Wright's Successful Flight—To Compete For Prizes.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Lemans, France, Sept. 16.—On the field of Auvours this morning Wilbur Wright, the aeroplanist of Dayton, Ohio, eclipsed all European records for sustained aeroplane flight. He remained in the air for 39 minutes and 18 3-4 seconds. This gives the Wright brothers the records for both hemispheres.

Mr. Wright circled over the field at an average height of 45 feet. He turned and twisted in every direction and his complete mastery of the aeroplane aroused great enthusiasm among the spectators. It is estimated that he covered 26 miles. Upon alighting Mr. Wright said he could have remained in the air longer had not the gasoline become exhausted.

Mr. Wright has notified the Aero Club that he will compete on Friday for the club's prize of $1,000 for the longest flight over an enclosed ground. He will compete at the same time also for the Micheli $4,000 cup for the greatest distance covered by an aeroplane in 1908.
